Monterey, & the "Hotel del Monte."

"Where a leaf never dies in the still blooming bowers,
And the bee banquets on thro' a whole year of flowers."

America's Favorite Summer and Winter Resort.

The site selected for the Hotel del Monte, was in a lovely grove of pine, oak and cedar, the trees being sufficiently scattered to admit of the adornment of the grounds by means of drive-ways, foot-paths, lawns and beds of flowers. A plat of 126 acres was set aside and enclosed as the hotel grounds, while 7000 acres more were purchased for other purposes. The Hotel del Monte is constructed in the modern Gothic style, and cost, with its furniture and other appointments, a quarter of a million of dollars. Without question it is the handsomest watering-place hotel in America. The main hotel is 385 feet in length and 115 feet in width, with wings on all sides. There are three stories and additional floors in the broad towers. All the rooms are lofty, light and airy, and all are of liberal size. There are 28 "suites" of rooms on the lower floor. In the second-story there are 48 "suites," or about 100 rooms. In the remaining story there are 13 "suites" and 20 single rooms—65 apartments in all. The central tower or observatory is 25 by 30 feet and about 80 feet high, and the end towers are 50 feet in height. The new addition rooms, all of which may be converted into "suites," with bath-room between every two rooms on all the floors. The entire building is lighted throughout with gas made at the works upon the grounds, and supplied with pure water from the Carmel River. The house is elegantly furnished throughout. The bar, bowling-alley, and smoking-room are contained in a separate building, and still further away, hidden by the trees, is a finely appointed carriage-house. The stable has accommodations for sixty or more horses, and there is telephonic communication between hotel and stable. Both hot and cold water are carried through the hotel in pipes, and the house is provided with all the modern appliances and improvements. There are bath rooms on the different floors free to the guests. In front and at the ends of the house are broad, shaded verandas, where guests may sit indolently in the easiest of lounging and "lazy" chairs, inhaling the pure air fresh from the ocean, perfumed with the aroma of flowers; or, preferring exercise, indulge in the jolly excitement of "shuffle-board." There is also a fish hatchery on the grounds, which is a great attraction. The grounds surrounding the hotel present the perfection of art in the way of landscape gardening. The approach to the hotel from the railway station is by a winding avenue shaded by venerable trees, or by a graveled walk forming a more direct route. The distance is slight, as the hotel has a station upon its own grounds. It is a noteworthy fact that all who have tarried awhile at the Hotel del Monte, are unanimous in its praise. It is the boast of the manager of the Hotel del Monte that no person out of the 17,000 visitors in one year from all parts of the world, has uttered a complaint. On the contrary, all are charmed beyond description. We might present hundreds of letters from tourists and invalids who have found pleasure and health at the Hotel del Monte. C. B. Currier, M. D., a well-known physician, spent several weeks at the Hotel del Monte, during which time he wrote as follows to the New York Medical Times: "Florida has been the Mecca of invalids. Colorado has its strong advocates. California has many health resorts deserving more than passing notice, but my present object is to call the attention of the profession to the signal attractions presented by Monterey as a winter resort for invalids who require equability of climate and a pure, invigorating atmosphere."

MONTEREY

Taking everything into consideration, and particularly as to equability of temperature, healthfulness of climate, attractions and comforts,

STANDS AT THE HEAD OF THE LIST of California's Summer and Winter Resorts, and since the completion and opening of the magnificent Hotel del Monte, June, 1880, thousands of invalids, tourists and pleasure seekers have availed themselves of the comforts, enjoyments and surroundings of this now famous resort.

There are Beautiful Drives over twenty-five miles of splendid macadamized roadways skirting the ocean shore and passing through extensive forests of spruce, pine and cypress trees.

The beach is unrivalled for bathing purposes, being of pure white sand. The Bath House contains spacious Swimming Tanks (150x50 feet) for warm salt water plunge and swimming baths, with elegant rooms connecting for individual Baths, with douche and shower facilities.
